Product Description

DroneCAN H-RTK F9P Helical

The DroneCAN H-RTK F9P Helical is an advanced GNSS (Global Navigation Satellite System) module designed for high-precision positioning in UAVs and other robotic applications. This module integrates the u-blox ZED-F9P receiver with a helical antenna, offering multi-band GNSS capabilities, RTK (Real-Time Kinematic) support, and robust performance in challenging environments.

High Precision: Utilizes the u-blox ZED-F9P receiver, which supports multi-band GNSS signals and provides centimeter-level positioning accuracy with RTK.

RTK Capabilities: Supports Real-Time Kinematic (RTK) positioning, which significantly improves accuracy by correcting satellite signal errors in real-time.

Multi-Band GNSS: Capable of receiving signals from multiple GNSS constellations (GPS, GLONASS, Galileo, BeiDou), enhancing reliability and reducing the time to first fix.

Helical Antenna: Equipped with a high-performance helical antenna, which offers better multi-path rejection and consistent performance in various orientations and environments.

DroneCAN Interface: Uses the DroneCAN protocol (an extension of CAN), providing robust communication, efficient data transfer, and easy integration with other DroneCAN-compatible devices.

Robust Design: Designed to withstand harsh conditions, making it suitable for professional and industrial applications.

Compact and Lightweight: Compact form factor and lightweight design, ideal for integration into various UAV platforms.
